

SUMMIT BASE

Presents...

Ice Climbing

Extreme Adirondack High Adventure

During the winter months the Adirondacks become one of the most popular locations in the country for winter outdoor activities as the entire area becomes a frozen playground.

Based out of the High Peaks Hostel in the Olympic Village of Lake Placid. Visit remote ice climbing locations deep in the mountains of the Adirondacks

Spend a winter weekend with Summit Base and our guides will instruct your group in basic winter outdoor skills such as camping, cooking and safety.

Focus is on learning the fundamental concepts and techniques of ice climbing and building a solid foundation for further development. Basic climbing skills will be introduced and reinforced: belaying, rappelling and general climbing etiquette. Specific ice climbing techniques will be taught and explored while using a top rope set up at any number of popular locations.

Ice tools and equipment will be provided. No prior climbing experience is necessary.
